Everyone loves a home with a history, and this one won't disappoint.

"Ashcote", circa 1892, was built by Bendigo Brick Works owner John Wolstencroft for his daughter Hannah, who resided there for about 50 years.

Many occupants followed before LaTrobe University Lecturer Sarah Warneke purchased it in 1990. Sarah is better known as acclaimed fantasy author Sarah Douglass - and the story has it, she used the front lounge room to create her famous brand of literary magic.

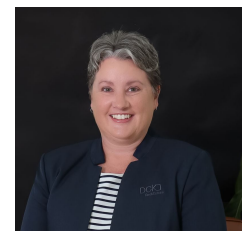

The solid brick home is a tribute to its heritage with original polished timber floors, high decorative ceilings, open fireplaces, picture rails and etched ruby glass sidelights to the front entry.
